BURGLARS CAPTURED.

Yesterday an account of the robbery of Capt. Wainwright's safe was published. Since then the burglars, two negroes, who gave the names as Cornelius Smith and John Smith, alias Hawkins, were captured in Norfolk by Detective Prince and have been turned over to the authorities in this city. The men are two noted crooks from Norfolk. The circumstances that led to their arrest are that John Smith and Cornelius Smith had been gambling. John Smith, being the loser, went to the station house in Norfolk and complained that he had been robbed of over $200 by Cornelius Smith. Detective Prince went to where John Smith said that Cornelius Smith was. There he found his man. He placed both men under arrest and carried them to the station house, where they were searched. $217.50 in money was found on Cornelius Smith and $7.07-100 on John Smith; also a small gold lady's watch, some dice, keys, and a few other articles. Mr. Prince, learning of Capt. Wainwright's robbery, at once concluded that they were the men who did it. Cornelius Smith claimed to have won the money from John Smith shooting crap. Both men were locked up. Yesterday they were brought to this city. Capt. Wainwright was sent for and identified some of the articles. Both men were committed to jail for a hearing. Capt. Wainwright now thinks that his entire loss did not exceed $250, of which amount only $5 belonged to him. The capture of these men so quickly reflects credit on the Norfolk detective force.

FUNERAL OF MRS. KATE GALLAGHER.

The funeral of Mrs. Kate A. Gallagher, wife of Mr. Peter J. Gallagher, took place at St. Paul's Chapel at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The sacred edifice was filled to its capacity with friends and acquaintances of the deceased, who had gathered to pay the last tribute of respect to their dead friends.

The solemn services were conducted by her pastor, Rev. T. J. Brady. The occasion was truly a sad one and will linger in precious memory as a thing sacred and to be revered.

At the conclusion of the services the remains were borne to Oak Grove cemetery for interment. Many beautiful floral tributes were laid tenderly on the new-made mound by the hands of those whose lives were almost inseparable from that of the deceased lady.

The following gentlemen were pallbearers: J. W. S. Butt, Peter Curran, Joseph Nee, Edward McGrath, M. P. Brennan, Robert O'Connor, F. Nash Blisoly, Augustus Carly.

PREFERRED DEATH TO GRIEF.

Yesterday morning Mr. Nat Denby, who resides with his father, Mr. Joshua Denby, on County street, lost by death his little daughter Pauline. This being the only daughter and he being very much devoted to her, his grief knew no bounds. His mind became completely unbalanced; so much so that he planned to take his own life, writing a note and putting it in his pocket, telling those at home that he had no desire to live longer, but wanted to die and be with the little one.

The services over the child took place at the grave in Oak Grove Cemetery. While they were being conducted Denby pulled out a vial of laudanum and drank it before any one was aware of his intentions. As soon as it became known what he had done he was brought to the city and was carried to the office of Dr. Jarrett, where proper restoratives were applied.

Up to a late hour last night but little hopes were entertained of his recovery. Drs. Claud and Jarrett worked faithfully from 8:30 to the time that our report closed, and were still at work on him then. Galvanic batteries were used, and friends of Mr. Denby worked hard to save his life, but there seems to be but little hope for him. He was carried to his home at 11 p. m. The case is indeed a sad one. Another child is expected to die before this morning.

OBSTRUCTING THE STREET.

Yesterday Mr. Thomas Green, an engineer on a switch engine of the Seaboard Air Line, was before Mayor Baird charged by a police officer with leaving a train of cars on Crawford street, from South to High street, for eighteen minutes Wednesday morning, obstructing the street for that length of time. Mr. Green said that he was subject to orders from the yard master, and that he had been instructed to place some cars at different places, which he had to do, and for that reason he left the cars standing there so long. His Honor continued the case until to-day in order to have the yard master before him.

MR. BLAND'S SPEECH.

His Eloquent Remarks in Nominating Mr. Boykin.

The Richmond News of the 6th instant says:

"Hon. Charles T. Bland, in nominating Mr. Clarence T. Boykin for clerk at the Democratic caucus last night, said: 'There are pleasant moments in the lives of all men, but none of the fact that the heart is willing, and being so, directs a consenting mind to the performances of a particular duty.'

"That is my position to-night. It is a happy moment to me to have the proud pleasure and distinction of placing before this body of representative Virginians the name of a gentleman for the high and responsible position of clerk of the House of Delegates and Keeper of the Rolls of Virginia.

"I am proud from every standpoint possible—character, education, competency, ancestry, energy, address, dignity, affability, nativity, devotion to duty, chivalry and all the other attributes necessary to make the model man are possessed by him whose name I shall presently present to you.

"He is the scion of a family known in Virginia history for its loyalty to all that pertained to the interests of this dear old State.

"Many times has the voice of his father rung out in clarion tones in your Senate Chamber, directing the yeomanry of the Old Dominion what course to pursue, what policy to adopt, what doctrine to accept, and in this hall he has stood, and from the depths of a pure heart, sounded the notes of approaching danger, when he thought it necessary for the welfare, peace and continued prosperity of his beloved State.

"He was indeed a true representative of the old Virginia gentleman, and he lives again in that son who, by a correct and upright life, has won the confidence of the people—a people who would be pleased to see him the worthy successor of the lamented John Bell Bigger, whom to know was to love, and whom to love was to adore.

"Born in Nansemond within the sound of the waves which make merry music as they roll on the pebbly pebbled shores, and which have lulled him to sleep in the days of infancy, and where many sunny hours of his boyhood were spent, he, in strong youth and vigorous manhood, came to the Capital city which, in conjunction with the surrounding section, has been benefited by his presence and influence. I present of Delegates the name of a young man who, if elected, will not only reflect credit upon those who place him in that high position, but the old State will be honored by thus honoring a gallant and worthy son in the person of Clarence T. Boykin, of Richmond."

TRAGEDY AT PINNER'S POINT.

David Ross Shot and Instantly Killed by Charles F. Harper.

Mr. C. T. Harper, one of the most prominent citizens and enterprising business men at Pinner's Point, shot and killed a white man last night named David Ross. The tragedy occurred in the real estate office of Mr. Harper, between 6 and 7 o'clock, and created the most intense excitement in the otherwise quiet neighborhood. Shortly after the shooting, a large crowd began to collect near the scene of the sad affair, discussing the various phases of the case. Mr. Harper surrendered himself to Justice C. E. Rustle, of the county, who placed him under a strong guard.

The circumstances attending the shooting were, as near as it was possible to obtain, as follows. Mr. Harper was sitting in his office at Pinner's Point late yesterday afternoon, when Mr. Ross came up to the door and began a tirade of abuse toward Mr. Harper, the latter arose from his chair and walking back to the rear of his office, followed by Ross, who continued his abuse. Ross was ordered to leave the premises, but instead of doing so, the story goes, closed in on Mr. Harper, clutching him by the throat. At this juncture the fatal shot was fired. Ross made an effort to get to the road, but fell just as he reached the door, expiring shortly afterward. The deceased was a man about 35 years of age, and was engaged at wharf building at the Point. Justice Rustle went to Pinner's Point late last night, and after viewing the remains, concluded that he would postpone holding an inquest until this morning.

TWO FIRES IN ONE DAY.

Yesterday morning about 1 o'clock an alarm of fire was turned in caused by fire being discovered in some shavings under one of the barges that is being built for the Seaboard Air Line on the old Neely wharf. It was extinguished without the aid of the department, which was on hand ready for work. It was fortunate that it was discovered so quickly, otherwise there would have been quite a blaze.

A slight fire occurred yesterday morning about 9 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. Russell, No. 313 Henry street, causing considerable damage to the dwelling and furniture of its occupants. An alarm was turned in from box 44, which brought the Independent and the Hook and Ladder companies, through whose efficient service a large conflagration was averted. The cause of the fire was a red-hot stove-pipe attached to the sitting-room stove. The fire getting between the plastering and weather-boarding, took an upward turn and ignited the mantelpiece. The house is owned by Mr. Thomas Welsh, and is very much damaged.
